18/11

Hello Giri,

I can assist you with these questions.

Please see my answers below.

If the carrier charges a pickup fee, does Shippo show this fee anywhere (invoice/API), or is it billed directly by the carrier? This will be billed directly to the account owner for the carrier account being used from the carrier. This is done outside of Shippo's infrastructure between the account holder and the carrier.

Is there a way for us to know pickup charges in advance so we can include or pass this cost to our customers? This is difficult because pickup fees can vary based on the carrier's specific pickup option (several offered) and if the account holder has incentives on the pickups option. If you're needing a baseline, I suggest you read the Rates & Service guides to see what the carrier publish rates are for the different pickup options as well as their fee structure. Please note that this is information that Maher would provide since he would be the account holder for said accounts.

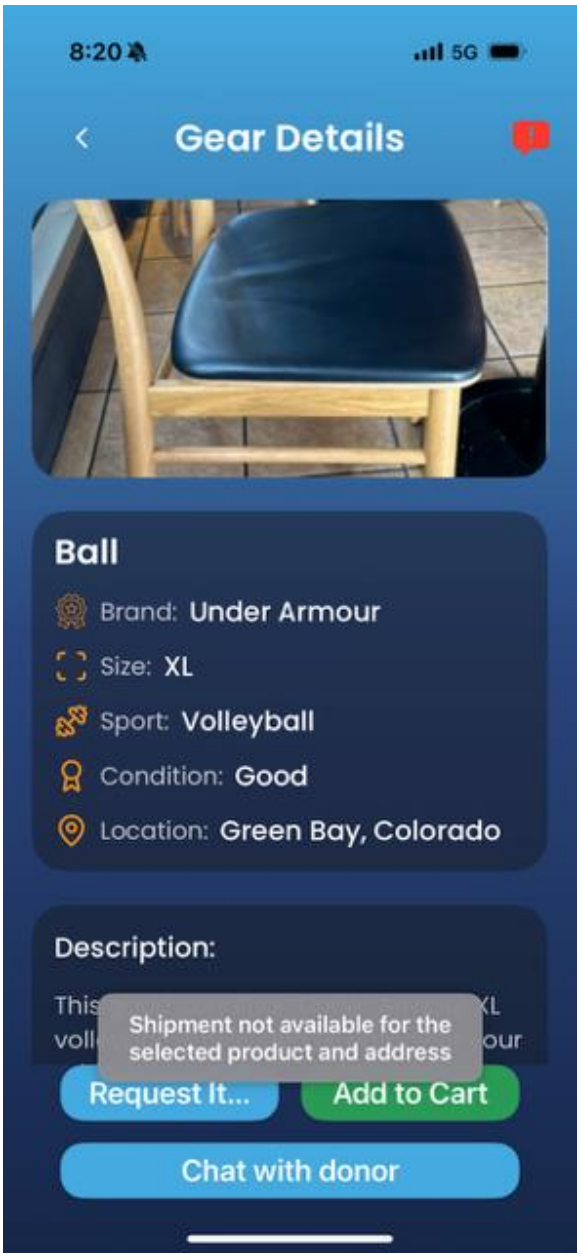

I hope this clarifies your questions.

~ Diego

17/11

Hi Giri,

What is this error? It’s not allowing me to request it. Thank you

Hey Giri,

Will the product list be updated with the items I sent you in the word documents? Also can you send me the users who downloaded the app? Thank you

Maher Saleh

Hey Giri,

COuple of small request. The name should be PickleBAll not Pickle Balls. Also can you change my home screen to look like the files attached. I also opened a new folder called Home Page Logo. Both files are in there. Shipping charges have not changed and are still $279. We have a meeting monday 7 AM PST. But can we meet Sunday evening? Thank you

